Obituary Beryle

Edward Ryan

Beryle Edward Ryan, son of Mr. Edward and Adell Ryan of Tinley Park, was born at Loston, Ill., November 17th, 1910. At the age of 9 years his parents moved to their farm near Tinley Park, where he has since resided. He attended the district school and was active in its home project clubs. He was also a member of Troop No. 1 of the Tinley Park Boy Scouts. He departed this life at the St. Francis hospital in Blue Island, Ill., Thursday August 19th, 1920, after a brief and baffling illness at the age of fifteen years, nine months and two days.

He leaves to mourn his early death, his parents, a brother George, and sister Mary Elizabeth and many relatives and friends.

May time erase from the memories of those who love him, his suffering and their sorrow and leave only the pleasant recollections of his brief stay with them.

The funeral services were held Sunday, August 22, 1920 from the home of Mrs. Sue Hiltbrand to the Loston M.E. Church.

Rev. G.A. Eckstrand delivered a very comforting sermon, taking as his text: Rev. 21:4, "And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain, for the former things are passed away."

Ira Kregor, Rev. and Mrs. Eckstrand and Mrs. Hartenbow sang "Some Sweet Day" and "My Faith Looks Up Thee." Mrs. Hartenbow and Mrs. Eckstrand sang a duet; "The Lord Is My Shepherd."

The remains were laid to rest in Hope Cemetery. The pall-bearers were Orville Gray, Casper Weber, Gerald Reynolds, Kenneth Reynolds, Leonard Reynolds, and Myron Griffin. The flower bearers were: Mrs. Amos Ryan, Mrs. Lawrence Ryan, Mrs. Frank Ryan and Mrs. Charles Ryan and Dorothy Gail and Betty Fay Ryan.

Relatives from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ryan and son of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ryan and son, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ryan, Mrs. Mary Lambert, Mrs. Hannah Hiltbrand, Winfield and Roy Ebner and Mrs. Belle Hartenbower of Tonica; Mr. and Mrs. John Malone of La Grange; Mr. and Mrs. G.F. Weber of La Salle; Ed. Wannemacher, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mancke, Mr. and Mrs. John Bettenhausen, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Larimore, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schult, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Andres, all neighbors from Tinley Park.

MILK PRODUCERS ASSOCIATION OUT LINE DAIRYMEN'S NEEDS

The great and crying need of the Dairymen of the Chicago Dairy District at this time is a real close communion organization.

Probably no one class of milk producers need the help of an organization more than the man who has not tested his cows. He finds himself among many fires. On the one hand is the awful expense of testing or changing his herd and upon the other hand he finds that if he does change or test his herd, he may find himself without a market for his product. The dealer saying to him we cannot take you on now as we have a surplus, and then again he is facing a condition which means a low price for his product if he is fortunate enough to get the market or he is forced to continue skimming and taking a low price for his product.

This man who anticipates testing his herd, or is forced to continue skimming is not alone in this matter, for the men who tested early or who have tested later are not only facing the low price for their product, but find themselves with out a market as in the case at Zenda, Wis., and Lake Zurich, Ill. The plant at Lake Zurich closed on August 22, and the plant at Zenda, closing on August 31. These are only two examples of what is taking place and what is to come.

Why then should the Dairyman neglect the only hope thru which he has any redress, (his association) and take a chance of going it alone? He knows well the result of going it alone. He has had his taste of that kind of treatment and knows very well that it is not the absent treatment kind either, for the people who do the treating

(the doctors) are always present either in person or in the form of the inspectors telling you where to head in and where to head out.

We are aware of the fact that the organization does not always get all it goes after, nor all that it ought to get. But we do know that what is gotten has always come thru organization. When men stand together as one, in a body, resistance is strong, but when men are scattered into small flocks or individually, their strength and influence is taken away from them and they must submit to whatever is thrust upon them.

We come to you, dairy farmers, at this time urging you to rally to the support of the Association with all your energy. Not alone with your money, but with your membership. For it is numbers which count in this case. With men we can do things. It is for MEN, Strong, determined MEN that we plead.

MRS. HODELL WILLS HOME TO DAUGHTER

Mrs. Albert Hodell of Mokena according to her will on file in the Will County Probate Clerk's office, has willed all her real estate property and furniture in Mokena to her daughter, Mrs. Minnie Martin. Her personal property is to be divided among her three children Mrs. Mary Hartwig of Chicago Heights, Mrs. Minnie Martin of Mokena and John Lang of Grand Island, Neb. Mrs. Hodell died several weeks ago.

CAR JOURNAL BURNS OFF CAUSING WRECK

A journal on a freight car in a Rock Island freight train burner off causing several cars to be derailed a short distance west of Tinley Park early Monday morning. The track was torn up for a short distance. The wreck occurred on the east bound main and tied up traffic for a few hours. The wrecked car was loaded with flour about 20 sacks were rinned open but very little flour was spilled.

GETTING FIGURES ON TINLEY PARK PAVING

Property owners along Kirche Street in Tinley Park who have been seriously thinking of having this street paved with concrete, are getting estimates from various engineers as to the cost of building a 25 feet wide street with curbing. Sewers are already laid on this street.

The property owners are going to have this work done independent of the village board. The street has been surveyed and if the proposed improvement does not cost too much, work will be started on it soon.

FRANKFORT TO HAVE HARVEST PICNIC

The annual Harvest Picnic will be held by the Frankfort Industrial Club at the Borman Grove, Sept., 12th. There will be exhibits of fruit and grain on which cash prizes will be awarded. The picnic will be held afternoon and evening. Old time dancing in the afternoon will be free. Regular dancing in the evening from 7 o'clock on.

ACCUSES WORTH OF HAVING SPEED TRAP

Cook County States Attorney's investigators into alleged speed traps had their attention called to Worth, when James Casey, 4939 Forrestville Av., told an experience in that village where Justice of the Peace B.F. Crandall, father of Motorcycle Policeman Dan Crandall, who arrested him for speeding later charged him $4.50 for a jury trial. After he had been found guilty. Casey says Crandall fixed a fine of $25 and $25 costs. This was cut to $5 fine and $5 costs and finally to $5 fine and $2 costs.

TO HOLD BENEFIT PICNIC

A benefit picnic for Herbert Neiland of Frankfort who has been very ill at the Will County Sanitarium will be held at the Borman Grove, October 2nd. Everyone is invited to attend. Tickets will soon be on sale by members of the Frankfort Industrial Club of which Mr. Neiland is a member.

POULTRY AND SWINE SPECIALISTS TO BE AT HENSEL'S DRUG STORE SEPTEMBER 8TH.

Farmers and poultry raisers in this section who have been losing chickens and pigs, are going to get an opportunity to find out where the trouble is, for arrangements have been made to have Dr. W.C. Graham, a member of the Research and Clinic Department of the Geo. H. Lee Co., of Omaha, Neb., and a Specialist on poultry and swine troubles, here on the above date to conduct a post-mortem demonstration clinic on poultry and hogs. This meeting will be held in the Hensel Drug Store at 2 P.M.

This is part of the campaign being waged to assist farmers and poultry raisers in reducing the tremendous loss on farms every year among these two branches of live stock. Dr. Graham's work is highly endorsed by A.D. Smith, Chief State Poultryman of Illinois, and other leading poultry authorities of the State, such as Judge Tarbill of Havana, Judge Scott of Peoria, Judge Hale of Glenelg, Lyle Funk President of the Illinois State Poultry Assn., and many others.

This clinic demonstration is really a short course school, teaching producers how to correctly diagnose, treat, and prevent disease and other troubles which are common causes of such loss among poultry and swine.

Everyone who has been losing any chickens or pigs, that are not doing well, is invited to bring in specimens for examination, and receive free instructions on the cause, treatment, and prevention of the trouble. Plenty of specimens are needed to bring out the full value of this demonstration, and it is hoped every farmer in this section will take advantage of this opportunity to learn some real facts about disease prevention. Every poultry and hog raiser should hear this man.

There will be no admission charge and nothing offered for sale at the clinic. Come, and learn how to stop your losses.

ORLAND

Invitations have been mailed for the wedding of Miss Louise Koehler to Mr. Walter Kramer, both of Orland. The ceremony is to take place in the home of the bride on 143rd St.

John Habenicht is driving a new Ford Tudor.

Chas. Nicolai found out that the road on 147th street is not wide enough for some people. On Friday night coming home from Blue Island in company with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Uthe, some one hit him nearly amidship, near the crossing of Crawford Ave., and 147th St. Mr. Nicolai's car was quite badly damaged, the front axle being bent and the radius twisted and two tires ruined. None of the occupants received injuries, except a good shaking up. Adolph Zerbs hauled the wrecked car in.

It is reported that the village has appointed Mr. Hofman as Police and water pumper, tax collector and general handy man around the village.

A very large crowd of rabid baseball fans gathered at Orland Sunday to witness the battle royal between Orland and Mokena, two deadly rivals and bitter enemies, as far as baseball is concerned. And say the Umpire no more than said play ball, when old Seyferth let loose one of his famous twisters. And the first Mokena player slams into it, but, oh boy, its a foul and old Doc Nicolai, the old war horse runs and grabs it. The next player makes a hit but dies on first. And so it was all thru the game. Orland played a real ball game, downing Mokena to the tune of two to one. Oh, how that head hurts, Mokena! And say dont it feel good to have some of your shekels in our pockets no wonder the ice cream parlor did such a land office business, and some of the players are considering investing some of the proceeds in the new subdivision.

Wm. Raney, the well known house builder and contractor of Orland, was seriously shaken up in a fall from a building which he was constructing. The accident happened last Monday. He was laying a tar paper roof and was just finishing the job, when he slipped and fell twenty feet to the ground. His ribs were broken and one side was severely bruised. He was taken to the St. Francis hospital where he is under the care of Dr. Depp.

A "Correct" Likeness of Washington

This heroic statue of the commander-in-chief of the first armies of the United States was made for the city of Portland, Oregon, though not yet delivered there by the artist. The western municipality has loaned it to the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 and continuing until December 1, to celebrate 150 years of American independence. At the foot of the sculpture is shown Pompeio Coppini, the sculptor. Dr. Henry Waldo Poe, of Portland, declares the face to be the most correct likeness of Washington ever modeled.

We hope that he will soon be about here. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Greve attended the golden jubilee celebration last Sunday of Rev. F. Brunn of Oak Glen given in observance of his 50 years of active and energetic worker in the ministry.

For 15 years the Rev. Mr. Brunn has also been President of the North Illinois District of the Missouri Synod of the Lutheran church, and under his able leadership has grown very remarkably. He was presented with $500 gold bond by his congregations in appreciation of his faithful work among them. After the services in the church, a banquet was served to all guests. On Friday afternoon another service was held at the Melrose Park Lutheran church after which another banquet was given for the visiting ministers and their families. About 400 listened to the many congratulatory speeches. Rev. Brunn is well known here, having preached in all the churches in this vicinity.

Monday night Mrs. Steinmetz received the news that her husband who had gone to work that morning hale and hearty, was operated for appendicitis in a Chicago hospital.

The Alumni of the first two classes of the Orland High School held a reunion supper on Sept. 1st.

Miss Lucille Schmadeke and Lois Grange were the chefs.

CHRIST LUTH. CHURCH

Sunday Sept. 5th will be Mission Day. There will be no service in the morning, but two services will be held. In the afternoon at 2:30 Rev. Sauer will preach in the German language and in the evening the Rev. H. Harthun will preach in English. Both these pastors are very enthusiastic missionaries and very able speakers. The collections on this day will be used for Missionary work in the United States.

On Sept. 7th. the doors of the Lutheran school will be thrown open for the 6th school term. Here the children will be taught, besides the elementary branches also that knowledge which the most necessary, namely, they will receive a thorough instruction in the fundamentals of the Christian doctrine. Are you giving your child the Bread of Life to eat and the water of the River of Life. If not then here you have an opportunity to bring your children to Christ. The Rev. W.C. Greve will again be the instructor.

On Thursday the Ladies Aid met and have decided to again give one of their well known and well liked suppers and bazaars. The date will be announced very soon.

Court Cases Tried On Sun, Illegal

Country justices of the peace who have been in the habit of trying cases on Sunday were given a jolt last Saturday when Judge Hill of the Will Circuit Court ruled that such cases are illegal and all verdicts handed down are void if such cases are tried on Sunday. This decision was given in the habes Corpus case of the four alleged inmates of the recent disorderly house closed at Frankfort. The quartet were arrested on a Sunday morning and tried the same morning before Judge Frank Kohlhaugen who fined the defendants $200 and costs each. Not having the money they were remanded to the county jail at Joliet where they remained for ten days until they were let out on bonds of $1000 each, the bonds being signed by Joliet men and approved by the court. The quartet was re-arrested by the county officials right after the Frankfort trial and will have to face trial on the county charges against them.

Marley Gets New Subdivision

Marley is looking forward to some kind of a local development since the old Barney farm of 80 acres east of the village has been subdivided by Mr. Ray of Chicago. Streets have been laid out and named. He has also given a strip of land for the new Southwest Highway which is to pass thru here and connect with the Maple street road. From present indications Marley is in the path of a real estate boom but the conservative people also look for some business to come with it to stabilize the boom.

last Sunday and suffered defeat by a score of 2 to 1. This was a tight game Ryba pitched for Mokena and not being used to pitch from a high pitchers' mound, issued 3 passes together with one error and one sacrifice fly proved to be Mokena's undoing. Each team got 2 hits. Mokena plays Lemont at Mokena next Sunday. Lemont is considered one of the best teams in this vicinity. All fans are invited to see a real game!

election of officers and Rev. Beaty will be present at this meeting and give a short address. Everyone is invited.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schoeneck Thursday morning.

Mrs. W.N. Lathrop underwent an operation at Silver Cross hospital Thursday morning.

Hulda Hellmuth is spending the week end with Miss Rosella Lehnus at her home in Herscher, Ill.

Lesson for September 5

THE TENT OF MEETING

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 33.
GOLDEN TEXT—And the Lord spake unto Moses face to face as a man
spaketh unto his friend.
PRIMARY TOPIC—God's House in the Wilderness.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Moses Worships in God's House.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC—Friendship With God.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC—Communion With God.

I. The Divine Command to Possess the Land (vv. 1-6).

1. The abiding purpose (v. 1).
They were to go up and possess the land despite the fact that the calf worship had broken the bond between them and their God. God spoke of them as the people whom Moses brought up out of Egypt, not as His own people. They had not shown any true penitence for their awful sin, therefore God could not claim them
as His own.

2. Divine aid promised (v. 2).
Though their sins made it impossible for God to go with them, He still agrees to help them by sending an angel before them to drive out their enemies.

3. The threatened withdrawal of the divine presence (vv. 3, 5).

God said, "I will not go up in the midst of thee, for thou art a stiff-necked people, lest I consume thee in the way." The presence of God in the midst of a sinning and impenitent people would mean death unto them.

The mercy of God is often strikingly shown by God's withdrawal from His people.

4. The effect upon the people (vv.
4, 6).

(1) "When the people heard these evil tidings they mourned."

They had not understood the seriousness of God's threatened withdrawal. They knew that no angel could make up for the great loss of the personal presence of God. They called it "evil tidings." Surely no tidings are so evil as those which tell of the withdrawal of the divine presence.

(2) They stripped themselves of their ornaments, showing that the articles which indicated gladness and joy could not be consistently worn when God had departed. We must be stripped of all that pertains to self and carnal pleasures if we be clothed with the divine blessing.

II. The Tent of Meeting (vv. 7-11).

1. It was pitched outside of the camp (v. 7).

As a token of the severed fellowship, the symbol of God's dwelling place, the tent of meeting was placed without the camp. While this showed the excommunication of His people, it showed also God holding out an opportunity to such individuals as sought the Lord to continue in fellowship with Him.

2. Moses in communion with God
(vv. 8-10).

Because Moses had not transgressed
God's law, he still had fellowship with God. The visible sign to the people that God honored Moses was the descending of the "cloudy pillar" as Moses entered the tent of meeting.

3. Moses the friend of God (v. 11).

This is one of the most beautiful expressions of personal fellowship to be found in all the Bible, if not in all literature. Friendship implies mutual confidence and sympathy, a disposition to share each other's secrets.

4. Joshua at home in the tabernacle (v. 11).

Joshua was not involved in the rebellion of the people. Because of his fidelity he was privileged to abide in the tent in the divine fellowship.

III. Moses' Prayer (vv. 12-23).

Moses' mind was somewhat perplexed, therefore he came to the Lord for the solution of his problem. God had said that He would send an angel to carry out His covenant obligation concerning the people in the possession of the land. Moses desired fuller knowledge of this angel so that he might act intelligently with reference to the matter. He asked for three things:

1. Fuller knowledge (vv. 12-14).
In order to lead the people he needed to know more fully his God.

God graciously responded to this request by assuring him that His presence would go with him and that He would give him rest.

2. "If thy presence go not with me, carry us not hence" (vv. 15-17).

Moses was convinced that no substitute could take God's place even though that one be an angel. He argued that it would be better to perish in the wilderness than to attempt to go into Canaan without God.

3. "Show me thy glory" (vv. 18-23).

Manifestly Present

Never in all the world's history has God been more manifestly present in it than when Jesus died upon the cross. We can all see that now. God was there, if He was ever anywhere in the world of men.

The True Prayer

The true prayer in time of great trial, care, or sorrow, is, not that we shall be delivered from the experiences, but that we may pass through them unharmed.

FISHER DESIGN SETS THE PACE

The pace set by Fisher—and exemplified in the beautiful new General Motors cars now commanding public attention —is the guide for the entire motor industry.

Fisher's vast experience, Fisher inventiveness and Fisher's unapproached facilities devise and perfect the beauties, comforts and conveniences which attract you to the leading new cars in all price classes—Cadillac, Buick, Chevrolet, Oakland, Oldsmobile and Pontiac.

For instance, Fisher achieves a new degree of safety—and nothing less than a Body by Fisher can approach it even after seasons of striving.

Fisher leads the way in luxurious fit-ments and decorations—and all the industry follows.

Fisher creates new standards of beauty in line and finish—and those standards are the measure of value for all of the world's cars.

It is easy to see, therefore, why the foremost of the new cars in all price classes carry the emblem—Body by Fisher.

And easy to understand why buyers the world over proclaim as the hallmark of quality that same magic symbol—Body by Fisher.

ORLAND

ORLAND M. E. CHURCH
Elmer L. Setterlund, Pastor
Friday evening Sept. 3rd, the moving picture is "New Brooms" featuring Bessie Love in an amusing and entertaining story.

Sunday Sept. 5th. Bible school at 9:30 standard time. Morning worship at 10:30. The ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed there will be no evening service on next Sunday Sept. 5th.

Beginning Sunday Sept. 12th, there will be a series of meetings which will tend in general, to discuss the subject "How To Know God." For about 20 minutes prior to the song service, there will be plans read given by local talent. Sunday morning August 29th, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hoffman was baptized, name given Deloris Ann Hofman.

Mrs. Thomas Richards of Camptus, Ill., is again a guest at the M. E. parsonage. Mr. Richards has been appointed the "5rd trick" operator at the local Wabash depot and will soon assume his duties at Orland. The Richards hope to move to Orland as soon as a house can be secured.

A cloud has come to the M. E. parsonage, in that Mrs. Setterlund has been ordered to take a complete "rest-cure" for at least a month. This is the diagnosis of her physician and it is hoped that said treatment will prove effective since the impairing of the health of "the lady of the manse" greatly hampers the efficiency of the pastor.

An interesting service was held at the Methodist church last Sunday evening. A so-called "Bible spell down" was participated in by several people representing Worth and Orland. The final results were a tie between Mr. Robert Murdoch and Miss Iva Hansen, both of Orland. Great credit should be given to the oldest contestant, Mrs. Betsy Austin of Orland, who is nearing her 81st birthday. The chairman of this meeting was Mr. Clarence Beagley who handled himself with great credit.

The Conference Report Blanks have arrived at the parsonage. This is always the suggestion that the end of the Conference year is soon at hand. It is hoped that we can close the year up financially with credit to ourselves and all pledges for the year should be paid up in full as soon as possible in order that the reports can be completed promptly. The Conference meets this year at Freeport. It is hoped that we might have a good delegation from Orland on Conference Sunday.

FRANKFORT

The Brotherhood of St. Peter's church will meet at the country home of Mr. Ferdinand Scheer on Tuesday evening Sept. 7th. All members are urged to be present as an usual fine program is being arranged.

The annual Harvest Thanksgiving and Mission Festival of the St. Peter Evangelical church will be observed Sunday Sept. 12th, with services in the morning, afternoon and evening.

The officers, teachers and adult members of St. Peter Sunday school will attend the Sunday school convention to be held at St. John Ev. church in Mokena on Sept. 8 and 9th.

Members of St. Peter's Brotherhood will attend the Brotherhood Convention at Peotone the afternoon and evening of Sept. 19th.

Miss Mary Bauch, aged 69 years a life long resident of Frankfort Township, died at her home in Frankfort Wednesday August 25th at 4:30 P.M. after many years of illness.

The deceased was born in Frankfort township November 2, 1856 on a farm in the southeast of the township. Later the family moved to this village.

Surviving her are, two brothers, Jacob of Frankfort and George of Chicago, 4 nephews and 2 nieces. Funeral services were held at the late home Saturday afternoon with burial in Pleasant Hill cemetery, Rev. G. S. Gerhold officiating.

Mrs. W. V. Hedges entertained at a delightful shower last Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Clara Sangmeister and her recent marriage to Mr. Nick Bennett. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will live in Joliet.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pfeifer, G. Pfeifer of Chicago Heights, Mr. and Mrs. John Stauffenberg and daughter were guests at the Chas. Pfeifer home Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Pinner is ill at the home of her brother-in-law, Mr. Logan.

Wm. Peters who has been very ill is improving.

Mrs. Chas. Balchowsky spent several days last week in Chicago. Mrs. Harry Balchowsky has returned home from a Chicago hospital following an operation and is improving nicely.

Frankfort public school opened Monday for the fall winter term, with Mr. Flarety as principal, Miss Viola Lankenau 2nd room and Miss Lenora Stauffenberg of Maniteno in charge of the first room.

TINLEY PARK

Miss Agnes Bruggemann has returned from Boone, Iowa where she has been spending her vacation. Lester Stege of Minneapolis, Minnesota has been visiting at the Henry Bruggemann home. He is with a theatrical company operating on the Orpheum circuit. He is booked up for two years.

John Boyer has gone on a business trip to Minneapolis.

The St. Christopher parish of Midlothian will hold a big Labor Day celebration in "Justamere Forest" on the estate of Mrs. Roger Sullivan estate at Goeseville, just north of Tinley Park next Monday.

George Lorenz and family visited the formers sister, Mrs. Penrose at the Silver Cross hospital at Joliet Tuesday. She recently underwent an operation for appendicitis. She is improving nicely.

The Tinley Park village board and a number of business men together with other nearby town officials and business men met with the Western United Gas & Electric Co., officials at Joliet Tuesday in regard to the matter of having this company furnish gas to the towns represented.

Andrew Eisenbrandt of Frankfort has taken an interest in the Tinley Park Real Estate Improvement Corporation in place of Julius Schaefer who recently withdrew from this firm.

The Tinley Park public school will open Tuesday morning Sept. 7 Goodbye good old vacation days.

Postmaster and Mrs. C. Andres are enjoying a vacation in Colorado. They also have visited with relatives in Nebraska and other western states.

The water mains extension work has all been completed and the contractor moved his machinery out last Friday. About 300 extra feet of water mains were laid in addition to the original contract so in all over 5,000 feet were laid at a cost of $8700.

Grandpa Holstein has returned and is staying with his daughter-in-law, Mrs. B. Holstein.

Harry W. Bettenhausen of Blue Island called in Tinley Park Tuesday. He has quit the automobile business and is now operating a taxi service between Blue Island and Chicago.

The Tinley Park R. N. A., had a basket picnic Tuesday.

There has been a heavy grain movement here the past week, the Bruggemann elevator being rushed with corn and oat shipments.

Mrs. Hattie Vogt has rented her farm now tenanted by Walter Mager to Emil Groth of Frankfort. Mr. Groth will take possession on March first next.

CARD OF THANKS

We sincerely thank all our neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness and sympathy shown us during the late illness and death of our beloved son, Beryle. Also for the floral offerings.

Edward Ryan and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Flarety who have been living in the Chas. Pfaff house have moved back to Manhattan and Mr. Knight has moved back into the Pfaff house.

Mr. and Mrs. Manson La Hue have moved into the house of the former's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Pfaff Jr., and daughter and Mrs. Pfaff's father, Geo. Letts returned Saturday from Kansas City where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Albert Letts.

Albert Pfaff of New Lenox was removed from Silver Cross hospital where he had been for several days and taken to Mayo Bros., in Minn.

The 13 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bettenhausen of Green Garden had his right hand and arm badly crushed in the elevator dump last Thursday at his father's home where they were threshing. He was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital and is reported getting along nicely. It is not now thought necessary to amputate his hand as it was feared.

Mrs. Geo. Schroeder Jr., entertained the Pinochle club Sept. 2 Ervin Block, Harold Pfeifer, Mrs. Block and daughter Mable attended the Aurora Fair Sunday.

Galli-Curci Swayed by the Seer of Sweden

Prima Donna Gives Wonderful Interpretation of the Writings of Emanuel Swedenborg—

HENRY FORD'S Dearborn Independent publishes a remarkable article on Galli-Curci and Emanuel Swedenborg, by Clarence W. Barron of the Wall Street Journal, the world famous financial authority. Mr. Barron declares that Galli-Curci has the most wonderful brain he has ever met or heard of in a woman, although she is much more "a true woman with a life and soul of affection for all that is ennobling and uplifting in the family, and in color, form, and music."

Mr. Barron is chairman of the Rotch Trustees, who acting under the will of Lydia S. Rotch of New Bedford, Mass., began in 1872 a modern translation of the Theological Works which Emanuel Swedenborg wrote and published in the Latin tongue, and deposited in the libraries of the world 150 years ago.

This work was completed and published by the Houghton Mifflin Co. in 32 volumes in 1907.

About three years ago there appeared in a Cleveland paper a paragraph that among her other accomplishments, Galli-Curci had read all the Theological Writings of Emanuel Swedenborg. The claim seemed so absurd to Mr. Barron that he thought it might be easily punctured by a simple inquiry as to the edition.

The Bible a Greater Work Than Ever
To Mr. Barron's direct inquiry Madame Galli-Curci promptly replied: "Yes, I have read in the past year the complete Swedenborg Works, in fact it is the Rotch Edition of the Houghton Mifflin Co. that I have."

"I can say certainly that the Bible to me is a greater work than it was before."

Mr. Barron says: "My astonishment was intensified. Familiar over many years with Swedenborg's general theological writings, I had set out to read the entire thirty-two volumes preparatory to an advertising campaign for the sale of this edition. Reading a few pages each day I finished my self-imposed task in fourteen years. I shall probably finish a second reading, at my present rate of progress, in perhaps ten years. Was it possible that a woman with no previous knowledge or relation to these books had really intelligently read them within a year?"

Swedenborg's Writings

Mr. Barron continues: "As an economist writing state papers on weights, measures, coinages and currencies, Swedenborg is easily comprehended. As an engineer transporting ships overland he is easily visualized. As a government official in the great mining industry of Sweden, writing practical books on mining and smelting, declared to be the foundation of modern metallurgy, he is of interest in the encyclopedia of scientific history. As the writer of volumes—original studies in search for the human soul—he is not without human interest."

"But when one comes to the realm of the unseen, where there is neither time nor space upon which to rest mental conceptions, few may enter into the fullness of the revelation which has come into the libraries of the world through Emanuel Swedenborg."

"Think of twenty modern-sized volumes, originally written in the Latin tongue and unfolding from the Hebrew of 'Genesis' and 'Exodus' the internal or spiritual sense that lies beneath the letter. Annex a dozen more similar volumes that not only expound every picture set forth in the book of 'Revelation' as conveyor of a tremendous truth of universal application throughout invisible degrees of creation and life, but also illumine all the problems of sex as presented throughout the universe from the union of the love and wisdom in the divine down to sex crystallization in the mineral kingdom; include the deepest of all works ever written entitled, in the original Latin, 'Angelic Wisdom Concerning the Divine Love and the Divine Wisdom.'

Then answer to yourself the number of years that ought to be required to master these thirty-two volumes?"

Mean More Than Any Other Books

Mr. Barron, still credulous, continued his correspondence with Madame Galli-Curci for some months. He learned that soon after she lost her dear mother she had sought the Writings of Swedenborg in a desire to know more about the other world whence her mother had gone. She spent the entire summer vacation studying Swedenborg's Works, and declared: "They have meant, and mean more to me than anything else I have ever read."

When Galli-Curci returned from California Mr. Barron motored up into the Catskills to her beautiful Italian palace, and in an afternoon with her and her husband, Mr. Homer Samuels, he was convinced that Galli-Curci had read and devoured Swedenborg in a briefer period than anybody had ever done before.

He says of this interview:

"Hours flew like minutes. I wasn't the questioner. Mr. and Mrs. Samuels were at me with the sharpest and deepest questions. They seemed in perfect harmony mentally and spiritually, as in their work in music."

Wanted to Learn

"She wanted to know about the 'Grand Man'. I told her it would be easier to comprehend it if she would forego the idea of time and space and consider, as Swedenborg says in 'The Apocalypse Explained', that every society in the heavens connects with some organ of the human body and helps to sustain it. Therefore the heavens have the organization of the 'Grand Man', but we need not think of it as a shape or figure."

"Yes," exclaimed her husband, "I see it; it is organization." I explained, also, how the 'Psalms' likewise connected with every society of the heavens, and how the world within and without was knit together in one grand poem and song of creation, man in the image of his Maker and knit into Him through the heavens, from which he has life in every organ of his body."

Swedenborg's 32 Volumes Read in a Single Summer

"Now I understand," she said, and asked me for explanation of other things. Her intelligent questions, as well as her statements, left no manner of doubt that Galli-Curci had performed the stupendous feat of reading the thirty-two volumes of Swedenborg in a single summer season. She declared 'Heaven and Hell' a very attractive and popular title and concerns that about which people are most eager to know; but it is not one of Swedenborg's great works; although it makes a good popular and introductory work."

A Help in Her Work

Galli-Curci understands the writings of Swedenborg even better than theologians, because she puts them into practice in the broadest life of loving helpfulness.

She said that Swedenborg had helped her in her work. She had no longer to think of herself but of her audiences, and let the music flow through her; regard herself just a medium for life to pour through. She felt with and for her audiences, and singing was no effort for her.

All Fear Vanishes

"The more you do—the more you give forth—the more life and energy is poured into you, and you are stronger and not weaker for the doing, the working and the singing. I always feel stronger; I am not exhausted at all by my singing. Swedenborg shows the reason and how life comes in as you pour it forth usefully to others. You don't have to try worry or fret. You know it is not you but that it is just being done through you."

Speaking further of the help Swedenborg had been to her in her work she said: "One gets so much more confidence. The other world and the one life, that comprehends all life, becomes reality and all fear and worry vanish."

Who Was Swedenborg?

Emanuel Swedenborg, the son of a bishop, was the great Swedish scientist, philosopher and theologian, whose vast range caused Emerson to term him the mastodon of scholars. Dr. Parkes Cadman recently named him the Universal Genius. Officially connected, by appointment of the King, with the great mining industry of Sweden, he mastered all the sciences of his time, and wrote the most useful books on metallurgy, minerals, geology, astronomy, and the human brain. His life search was for the human soul. How his spiritual senses were opened, after he was 50 years of age, that he might reveal the human soul, the life after death, and the Bible itself, may be read in the above named, uplifting, useful books.

"Baree!" she whispered, taking his head in her hands. "Baree!"

Her touch thrilled him. It sent little throbs through his body, a tremulous quivering which she could feel and which deepened the glow in her eyes. Gently her hand stroked his head and his back. It seemed to Nepeese that he did not breathe. Under the caress of her hand his eyes closed. In another moment she was talking to him, and at the sound of her voice his eyes shot open.

"He will come here—that beast—and he will kill us," she was saying. "He will kill you because you bit him, Baree. Ugh, I wish you were bigger, and stronger, so that you could take off his head for me!"

She was untangling the babiche from about the table-leg, and under her breath she laughed. She was not frightened. It was a tremendous adventure—and she throbbed with exultation at the thought of having beaten the man-beast in her own way. She could see him in the pool struggling and beating about like a great fish. He was just about crawling out of the chasm now—and she laughed again as she caught Baree up under her arm.

"Oh—oo-pl-nao—but you are heavy!" she gasped. "And yet I must carry you—because I am going to run!"

She hurried outside. Pierrot had not come, and she darted swiftly into the balsams back of the cabin, with Baree hung in the crook of her arm, like a sack filled at both ends and tied in the middle. He felt like that, too. But he still had no inclination to wriggle himself free. Nepeese ran with him until her arm ached. Then she stopped and put him down on his feet, holding to the end of the caribou-skin thong that was tied about his neck. And then the Willow spoke to him softly.

"You are not going to run away, Baree. Non, you are going to stay with me, and we will kill that man-beast if he dares do to me again what he did back there." She flung back the loose hair from about her flushed face, and for a moment she forgot Baree as she thought of that half minute at the edge of the chasm. He was looking straight up at her when her glance fell on him again. "Non, you are not going to run away—you are going to follow me," she whispered. "Come."

The babiche string tightened about Baree's neck as she urged him to follow. It was like another rabbit-snare, and he braced his fore-feet and bared his fangs just a little. The Willow did not pull. Fearlessly she put her hand on his head again. From the direction of the cabin came a shout, and at the sound of it she took Baree up under her arm once more. "Bete noir—bete noir!" she called back tauntingly, but only loud enough to be heard a few yards away. "Go back to Lac Bain—owases—you wild beast!"

Nepeese began to make her way swiftly through the forest. It grew deeper and darker, and there were no trails. They came at last into an open. It was a tiny meadow in the heart of the forest, not more than three or four times as big as the cabin; underfoot the grass was soft and green, and thick with flowers. Straight through the heart of this little oasis trickled a streamlet across which the Willow jumped with Baree under her arm, and on the edge of the rill was a small wigwam made of freshly cut spruce and balsam boughs. Into her diminutive mekeup the Willow thrust her head to see that things were as she had left them yesterday. Then, with a long breath of relief, she put down her four-legged burden and fastened the end of the babiche to one of the cut spruce limbs.

Baree burrowed himself back into the wall of the wigwam, and with head alert—and eyes wide open—watched attentively what happened after this. Not a movement of the Willow escaped him. She was radiant—and happy. Her laugh, sweet and wild as a bird's trill, set Baree's heart throbbing with a desire to jump about with her among the flowers.

For a time Nepeese seemed to forget Baree. Her wild blood raced with the joy of her triumph over the Factor from Lac Bain. She saw him again, floundering about in the pool—pictured him at the cabin now, soaked and angry, demanding of mon pere where she had gone. And mon pere, with a shrug of his shoulders, was telling him that he didn't know—that probably she had run into the forest. It did not enter into her head that in tricking Bush McTaggart in that way she had played with dynamite. She did not foresee the peril that in an instant would have stamped the wild flush from her face and curdled the blood in her veins—did not guess that McTaggart had become for her a deadlier menace than ever.

After a little Nepeese returned to Baree. She brought him water and gave him a piece of raw fish. For hours they were alone, and with each hour there grew stronger in Baree the desire to follow the girl in every movement she made, to crawl close to her when she sat down, to feel the touch of her dress, of her hand—and hear her voice. But he did not show this desire. He was still a little savage of the forests—a four-footed barbarian born half of a wolf and half of a dog; and he lay still. With Umisk he would have played. With Oohomise he would have fought. At Bush McTaggart he would have bared his fangs, and buried them deep when the chance came. But the girl stantly his body stiffened under the Willow's hand. He drew back slowly and cautiously from her lap, and as Pierrot advanced, Baree snarled. The next instant Nepeese had risen and had run to Pierrot. The look in her father's face alarmed her.

"What has happened, mon pere?" she cried.

Pierrot shrugged his shoulders. "Nothing, ma Nepeese—except that you have roused a thousand devils in the heart of the Factor from Lac Bain and that—"

He stopped as he saw Baree, and pointed at him.

"Last night when M'sieu the Factor caught him in a snare, he bit M'sieu's hand. M'sieu's hand is swollen twice its size, and I can see his blood turning black. It is pechipoo."

"Pechipoo!" gasped Nepeese. She looked into Pierrot's eyes. They were dark, and filled with a sinister gleam—a flash of exultation, she thought.

"Yes, it is the blood-poison," said Pierrot. A gleam of cunning shot into his eyes as he looked over his shoulder, and nodded. "I have hidden the medicine—and told him there is no time to lose in getting back to Lac Bain. And he is afraid—that devil! He is waiting. With that blackening hand, he is afraid to start back alone—and so I go with him. And listen, ma Nepeese. We will be away by sundown, and there is something you must know before I go."

Baree saw them there, close together in the shadows thrown by the tall spruce trees. He heard the low murmur of their voices—chiefly of Pierrot's, and at last he saw Nepeese put her two arms up around the man-beast's neck, and then Pierrot went away again into the forest. He thought that the Willow would never turn her

Horrible Methods of Treating the Insane

Until within the last century insane persons were treated with terrible cruelty in nearly all "civilized" countries, and as late as 1770 lunatics were exhibited at public fairs in England, and as late as 1815 there were exposures of terrible cruelties in the Bethlehem hospital in England, and this led to gradual improvements and the introduction of enlightened and scientific methods in the care of the mentally afflicted.

One of the mildest of the old forms of treatment of mad people, and long in vogue at Strathgillan, in Perthshire, Scotland, was connected with the observance of the festival of St. Fillan, a Scottish saint.

Insane people were dipped in the "holy pool," where St. Fillan had bathed in the Seventh century. Many quaint ceremonies were connected with this "ducking." After the immersion the lunatics were herded to St. Fillan's chapel, and strapped to the floor, to be left all night.

face toward him after that. For a long time she stood looking in the direction which Pierrot had taken. And when, after a time, she turned and came back to Baree, she did not look like the Nepeese who had been twining flowers in her hair. The laughter was gone from her face and eyes. She knelt down beside him and with sudden fierceness she cried:

"It is pechipoo, Baree! It was you—who put the poison in his blood. And I hope he dies! For I am afraid—afraid!"

She shivered. Perhaps it was in this moment that the Great Spirit of things meant Baree to understand—that at last it was given him to comprehend that his day had dawned, that the rising and the setting of his sun no longer existed in the sky, but in this girl whose hand rested on his head. He whined softly, and inch by inch he dragged himself nearer to her until again his head rested in the hollow of her lap.

For a long time after Pierrot left them the Willow did not move from where she had seated herself beside Baree. It was at last the deepening shadows and a near rumble in the sky that roused her from the fear of the things Pierrot had told her. When she looked up, black clouds were massing slowly over the open space above the spruce-tops. Darkness was falling. In the whisper of the wind and the dead stillness of the thickening gloom there was the sullen brewing of storm.

Nepeese shivered and rose to her feet. For the first time Baree got up, and he stood close at her side. Above them a lightning-flash cut the clouds like a knife of fire, followed in an instant by a terrific crash of thunder. Baree shrank back as if struck by a blow. He would have slunk into the shelter of the brush wall of the wigwam, but there was something about the Willow as he looked at her which gave him confidence. The thunder crashed again. But he retreated no farther. His eyes were fixed on Nepeese.

She stood straight and slim in that gathering gloom riven by the lightning, her beautiful head thrown back, her lips parted, and her eyes glowing with an almost eager anticipation—a sculptured goddess welcoming with bated breath the onrushing forces of the heavens. Perhaps it was because she was born on a night of storm. Many times Pierrot and the dead princess mother had told her that—how on the night she had come into the world the crash of thunder and the flare of lightning had made the hours an inferno, how the streams had burst over their banks and the stems of a thousand forest trees snapped in its fury—and the beat of the deluge on their cabin roof had drowned the sound of her mother's pain, and of her own first babyish cries.

On that night, it may be, the Spirit of Storm was born in Nepeese. She loved to face it, as she was facing it now. It made her forget all things but the splendid might of nature; her half-wild soul thrilled to the crash and fire of it; often she had reached up her bare arms and laughed with joy as the deluge burst about her. Even now she might have stood there in the little open until the rain fell, if a whine from Baree had not turned her. As the first big drops struck with the dull thud of leaden bullets about them, she went with him into the balsam shelter. It seemed an interminable time before the thunder rolled far to the east, and the lightning died away into distant and intermittent flashings. Even after that the rain fell for another hour. Then it stopped as suddenly as it had begun.

With a laughing gasp Nepeese rose to her feet. The water gurgled in her moccasins as she walked out into the open. She paid no attention to Baree—and he followed her. Across the open in the treetops the last of the storm-clouds were drifting away.

Nepeese looked down and saw Baree. He was standing clear and un-leashed, with freedom on all sides of him. Yet he did not run. He was waiting, wet as a water-rat, with his eyes on her expectantly. Nepeese made a movement toward him, and hesitated.

"No, you will not run away, Baree. I will leave you free. And now we must have a fire! Let us hunt for the wuskwi, Baree."

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

How can anyone start the day properly if he wakes in a room where the paint and wallpaper are constantly making faces at the furniture?

HELPFUL HINTS

Sliced cold roast beef makes a most tasty dish when combined with potatoes, onions and tomato. Put a layer of thinly sliced uncooked potato into the bottom of a baking dish, cover with a thin layer of thinly sliced onion, then add a layer of thinly sliced beef, cover with tomato and bake until the potatoes are well done. If gravy is at hand it adds to the flavor, covering the meat with the gravy. Serve with a spoonful or two of cooked peas over the top of the dish.

It is hard to teach the average housewife to buy the coarser cuts of meat. They have more flavor and as much nourishment as the steaks and tender portions. Meat that has been used for soup has lost its flavor, but the food value is still there and by adding various seasonings a most palatable dish will result. The meat which has the most flavor is found in the parts of body most active, like the legs and neck. These are the cheaper cuts.

For the second meal cut the meat into bits. Fry onion in a little butter, remove the onion when light brown and add the meat. Add stock or water and cook five minutes, season with two teaspoonsful of curry powder, thicken the gravy with flour and add a tablespoonful of vinegar. Serve with a border of rice.

Milk at fifteen cents a quart is cheaper food than meat and eggs, while in small towns where milk is nine and ten cents a quart it is cheap food.

Most housewives have a certain amount to spend for food. If the amount is small, all the more need that it be spent wisely, so that her family gets to the limit every cent invested for the most satisfying and nourishing food. The haphazard buying which is common in many households, the last minute order, means either feast or famine. Marketing in person when possible is the best way; it teaches self-control, by being able to pass by the food too expensive for the purse and often one finds real bargains in foods that the family enjoys.

A thrifty housewife may have two good meats from a three-pound knuckle of veal. Cover the meat with cold water and cook at a low temperature until the meat is tender, but not tasteless. Remove the meat from the broth, add two tablespoonsful of rice that is well cooked, a grating of lemon rind, or a bit of nutmeg or mace, a pint of milk and serve at once.

What to Eat

There are few people who feel that a meal is satisfying which is not finished with some kind of dessert.

Junket is a most delicious dessert for a hot day; it may be varied by the use of fruit pulp and whipped cream as a garnish. Add a tablet of junket to a quart of lukewarm milk, add sugar to sweeten and stir until the tablet is well dissolved. Crush the tablet and let stand in a tablespoonful of water to dissolve before adding to the milk. Let the mixture stand in sherbet cups in a warm room until the junket is set. Mash bananas and cover each sherbet glass with the pulp and top with whipped cream when ready to serve. Peaches or other fruit may be used.

Peach Sherbet.—Put a pound of sugar and a quart of water on to boil for twenty minutes. Let cool, then add one and one-half cupsful of peach pulp, the strained juice of an orange and the juice of half a lemon. Freeze.

Mint Sherbet.—Soak half a cupful of chopped mint leaves in the juice of two lemons half an hour. Boil two cupsful of sugar and a cupful of water five minutes, then pour over the other ingredients. When cold strain into a freezer, add the grated rind of the fruit and a well-beaten egg white, with a cupful of stiffly beaten cream. Serve with lamb roast or as a dessert.

Date Crackers.—Put a pound of washed and pitted dates with a cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of water into a saucepan and cook until smooth. Cool. Cream a cupful of shortening, add a cupful of brown sugar, two and one-half cupsful of rolled oats which have been parched to a light brown, and two cupsful of flour; stir until well-blended, add a teaspoonful of soda in half a cupful of hot water and stir into the mixture. Roll out, cut and place a spoonful of fruit on a cookie, cover with another, then bake.

Larded Beef Tenderloin.—Cut the salt pork for larding from the firm fat portion nearest the rind. Cut the lardons into strips one-fourth inch wide and as long as the slices will permit. Chill the lardons in iced water before threading and insert them one-fourth inch below the surface, draw through, tying in a loose knot.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

HEART DISEASE AS A PUBLIC PROBLEM

EVER since 1899, when Massachusetts created the first state board of health, authorities have divided diseases into two classes; those which were caused, so far as we know, by social conditions and so were proper activities of the state and those which were matters of personal responsibility. To the first group belong naturally diseases caused by water, milk, sewage and drainage conditions, those which are contagious and so must be controlled by the police power, whether state or city. In most of our cities today, drinking water is supplied by the city. If the city gives its citizens polluted water, the individual cannot help himself. He must take what is given him.

But the larger group of personal diseases, such as affections of the heart, stomach, liver, etc., are due to personal habits for which each individual is responsible. These diseases have naturally been regarded as individual conditions with which health officers did not and could not have anything to do.

But the growing frequency of heart disease has aroused much discussion among health officers, as to whether our health departments and officers could not do something to check and control this increasing danger. In a recent issue of the American Journal of Public Health, Dr. A. J. Chesley, executive health officer of the Minnesota department of health and secretary of the Conference of State and Provincial Health Authorities of North America, discusses the question of what state health departments can do to protect the people from heart disease.

The belief has been steadily growing that heart disease is to a large degree preventable. The idea of our grandfathers was that heart disease was a kind of curse or blight that came on certain people for some unknown and mysterious reason and that once acquired there was little or nothing that could be done. But we know now that most forms of heart disease are due to causes which can be prevented, especially in childhood.

About one-third of all cases of heart disease are found to be due to some kind of infection. After the patient has acquired the infection, it is impossible to prevent the heart from becoming affected. But if the heart disease can't be prevented, the infection which causes the heart disease can be prevented.

Tonsillitis, scarlet fever, rheumatism, bad teeth are some of the early causes of heart disease. Clean mouths, sound teeth and the early removal of adenoids and diseased tonsils will prevent heart disease in later life.

THE VALUE OF INSULIN

WHEN the discovery of insulin was announced a little over four years ago, it was generally and quite prematurely assumed that the problem of diabetes had been solved. Many newspapers and quite a few medical journals, carried away by their enthusiasm, gave their readers the impression that there was nothing left to learn about this mysterious disease and that all that was necessary was for the diabetic patient to take insulin in order to be restored to health.

Unfortunately, time and broader experience and knowledge have not confirmed this view. The discovery of insulin by Doctor Banting was, indeed, a great achievement and added more to our knowledge of this disease than all the efforts of all his predecessors. Its use has entirely changed our idea of the treatment of diabetes. It has enabled thousands of sufferers from this disease to resume active work and to live comfortably and happily. But there is as yet no evidence to justify the hope that insulin has any effect as a "cure" for diabetes, if by cure is meant restoring the patient to a normal condition, as he was before he contracted the disease.

In a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, this question is discussed editorially. It is unfortunate, the editor says, that the discussion and widespread public interest about insulin at the time of its discovery gave the general impression that it was or would become a cure for the disease and that many physicians are now finding it necessary to disillusionize their patients on this point.

Dr. E. P. Joslin, one of the leading authorities on diabetes, says in a recent book on this subject, that he has found no cases in the last four years which he could regard as really "cured." The same overconfidence in regard to various forms of treatment of tuberculosis has from time to time had to be corrected, so that today the best authorities on consumption do not use the word "cured," even for apparently healthy patients but call them rather "arrested" cases, that is, patients in which the disease is making no further progress. So Doctor Joslin suggests that diabetic patients who are apparently perfectly recovered be called "arrested" rather than cured.

OSTRICH BOA HAS COME BACK; YOUTHFUL DESIGNS IN PAJAMAS

AN OLD friend has returned. Yes, 'tis true, the ostrich boa in the full measure of its former glory is with us again. Paris decrees it as the outstanding idea among accessory fashions. So in comes the ostrich boa, very long or very short, not only in dressy versions but in street types as well.

Some of the smartest ostrich boas or ruffs assume a flat collar shape attached beneath to a grosgrain ribbon. Then there is the Pierrot collarette which extends just around the neck, in as saucy and perky a manner as one could wish.

A fascinating play of color adds beauty upon beauty to the new ostrich style of fashion. Which all goes to show that ostrich accessories are a foremost thought of the present hour.

Ask any of the bobbed hair sorority, and their name is legion, to express their opinion on the subject and invariably in a burst of enthusiasm they will expatiate in a veritable torrent of words upon the comfort and practicability of the fashion. Even so in regard to the vogue of wearing pajamas. Womanhood has been converted to the idea from a common-sense standpoint. More and more are neckpieces. Tones and tints are combined, blended and contrasted with consummate artistry, which, of course, pajamas establishing themselves as essential in the realm of sensible as well as esthetic lingerie modes.

For the making of practical, easy-to-laundry pajamas, there is no fabric comparable to the humble, yet adorably colored, crinkly seersucker. However, if one's fancy turns to silk, what more charming than crepe de chine or wash satin made after the manner of the model portrayed? Perhaps it is the frivolous lace ribbon bows, or possibly the cunning pockets, but at any rate this particular model expresses these but suggest the multitudinous delectable colorings which mark the coming season's ostrich fantasies.

Not only color, but novelty of design holds attention throughout the ostrich accessories. One type of flat boa has a small plume down the back in pointed effect, many of the longer sort are of willowed plumage, others show willowed ostrich with marabou united. Some elaborate modes have long ostrich tassels, and so on and so on is the theme being exploited.

Nor is the vogue limited to neckpieces, for ostrich trimming is furthermore making its appearance on our frocks and on our wraps. Then there is the ostrich fan. Together with the boa it makes its entrance on the youth in its every detail and that is a declared requisite feature for all pajama creations this season.

There are times when the feminine heart longs for lace and ribbons aplenty. The new lingerie displayed for the coming months is especially satisfying to those who delight in the ornate. Lacy, with much handwork, is fashion's ultimatum for the daintier boudoir pajama sets, with no limit to elegance and novelty when it comes to the more formal types.

Color contrast is an interesting theme such as flesh-tinted silk pajamas, either crepe or crepe-back satin, trimmed with Nile green, or blue with pink or orchid with maize.

HOW MANY WOMEN GET UP SINGING

Two Women Find Health Essential to Happiness

MRS. BELLE THOMPSON
ROUTE 2, ROSSVILLE, GEORGIA

Springtime streamed in through the open windows. The green fields of Georgia were basking in the sunshine. Somewhere a bird was trilling. It was a day to be happy.

But the pale woman at the table sighed and pushed away her plate. Nothing tasted right. She couldn't eat much. She couldn't sleep well, either. She was so weak, it was hard to do her work. When the baby cried, she wanted to cry, too.

She had not been well for four years. Her husband watched her with a man's helpless expression. But his mother knew a remedy.

"My mother-in-law," says Mrs. Belle Thompson, Route 2, Rossville, Ga., "told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I took six bottles of the Vegetable Compound. I could sleep and would get up in the morning singing and feeling fine. I am the mother of three children, and always after the babies came I had to take treatments, but I can truly say that this last time I have only used the Sanative Wash. It does more good than the treatments. It keeps me on my feet to care for my children and I do most of my work. I feel it my duty to let you know how both of the medicines have helped me."

Another Happy Woman

Decatur, Illinois.—"I took your medicine for weakness. I would sometimes have to hold myself up with my hands. I was this way for five years, off and on. I read in the newspapers where Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped a lot of women, and I thought I would take it. I am now getting better so fast that every month I can feel a difference. My work now is cooking. If you like, you may use these facts as a testimonial. I am willing to help you boost your medicine."—Mrs. Irene Reed, 635 Greenwood Ave., Decatur, Ill.

This dependable medicine has been in use for over fifty years.

His Peculiarity

"Riley Rezzidew is a powerful queer old feller, ain't he?" questioned a citizen of Petunia.

"Well, yes; I reckon so," replied another resident of the same town. "Tennyrate, noticed that when he is at the depot he don't 'pear to hate the folks riding in the pullman cars.—Kansas City Star.

Thief! Is What

He Calls Headache

Brooklyn. Mr. Richard A. Davidson writes: "A headache is a thief, because if I figured up the number of days I was unable to do my best work on account of a sick headache, it would amount to hundreds of dollars. I have found the best relief for sick headache is Carter's Little Liver Pills. They have rarely failed to clear my attacks and they tone up my stomach and bowels in fine shape."

Chronic sick headache is many times irregular bowel movement. Try Carter's Little Liver Pills. Druggists, 25 & 75c red packages.

Golden Bird on Shoe

One of the exhibition dancers at the Deauville casino the other night wore a wonderful pair of shoes made in strips of pale blue, pink and lavender kid with a golden bird placed rather to one side of the vamp and held captive, as it were, by a thin gold chain, the other end of which was attached to a diamond placed halfway up the very high heel.

CONSOLIDATION CLEAN COAL

No ordinary coal—this. Every lump a lump of heat. Visible, unburnable wastes—slate and dirt—removed at the mine. And ash—so little of it that the furnace need be cleaned but once a fortnight.

A sootless coal, too. Less dusting for the housewife in consequence. And a labor-saver. Just a shovel now and then keeps the house warm. The fire holds its heat, yet flares up quickly in response to a draft.

Place order now for Hard Coal.
Shipment to arrive soon.
